Winter Stories—Ghost Stories... Round the Christmas Fire: Victorian Ghost Stories and the Christmas Market

Caley Ehnes

Abstract

Using the publication of Elizabeth Gaskell's "The Old Nurse's Story" in the 1852 Christmas number of Dickens's Household Words as a case study, this paper examines how the publication of Victorian ghost stories in Christmas numbers redifines the ghost story, transforming it from a modern text participating in contemporary debates on spiritualism into a social text participating in the broader cultural project of reaffirming the nation's (religious) traditions in the face of (secular) modernity. While the themes of Christmas ghost stories explicitly address social issues and secular, middle-class cultural values, the morals and social traditions promoted by Christmas fiction cannot exist outside of the era's contemporary conversations about the place of religion in a modern, industrial society. The ghosts and goblins of Dickens's Christmas fiction attempt to correct the social ills of modern society through a secularised application of Christian values and behaviours.

Keywords

Victorian literature; Elizabeth Gaskell; Gaskell; Dickens; Charles Dickens; Christmas; fiction; spiritualism; ghost story; Household Words; religion; society; culture; Christmas; CSRS; UVic; University of Victoria; Centre for Studies in Religion and Society

Full Text:

PDF

DOI: https://doi.org/10.18357/illumine.ehnesc.1112012

Copyright (c) 2012 Caley Ehnes

© Centre for Studies in Religion and Society
University of Victoria
www.crsr.uvic.ca
All rights reserved.

ISSN (Print): 1705-2947
ISSN (Online): 1712-5634